

STATINTL

4 December 1967

In-house Dinner - 13 December

Fred:

At the request of Mr. Duckett I have been making arrangements and extending invitations to Agency officials to attend an in-house dinner to be held on 13 December in the Executive Dining Room at 1800 hours.

STATINTL

[REDACTED] who is a Consultant to the Office of Science and Technology, will be the speaker. He will discuss the effectiveness of R&D management and application of comparative economic measures to test the effectiveness of R&D programs.

The cost of the dinner (roast beef) will be approximately $9.00 (this includes 2 before-dinner drinks, 2 glasses of wine with the dinner, and an after-dinner drink).

You are cordially invited to attend if available on that evening.

Among those who have received invitations are the Director, Admiral Taylor, Colonel White, Deputy Directors, appropriate DDS&T Office Directors and their Deputies, and other Agency officials.

May I have your reply as soon as possible?